Grove Schools Suffer Damage By Youths

Judge Lowell Howe Selected As Ayers' Campaign Headmaster

Republican Assembly nominee, Bill Ayers today announced that Judge Howe will serve as his general campaign manager in his bid for the 77th Assembly District seat.

Howe, who served for 30 years as a Municipal Court Judge in the South Bay area, said that he will serve in this position and work for Ayers because he feels that "the 77th incumbent is too closely allied with Assembly Speaker Jesse Unruh."

Howe said, "Unruh uses his power to advance himself politically. Unruh control of the legislature has made it very difficult to get an constructive legislation passed."

He also said that any legislator who takes part in helping Unruh is just as guilty as the Speaker.

Howe, a native of Chula Vista, was the first judge of the South Bay Judicial District. He received his B.A. from Pomona College and his J.D. from the University of California School of Law, Boalt Hall.

He was admitted to the California Bar Association in 1926 and came to San Diego in 1928 to practice law. In 1931 he was appointed Justice of the Peace, and in 1951 Howe became the first Judge upon creation of the South Bay Municipal Court.

Howe is a member of the Chula Vista Kiwanis Club, and in 1964 was General Chairman of the successful campaign for former Assemblyman Richard Donovan, who is now also a Municipal Court Judge.

After his retirement in 1961, Judge Howe has frequently been called upon to substitute upon the bench in San Diego. Howe stated that Ayers' qualifications were excellent for the office which he is seeking and that he felt Ayers would make an outstanding Assembiyman for the 77th District.

DESTRUCTION: Officials of the Lemon Grove Elementary School District are shown as they survey damage caused at the Golden Ave. Elementary School in Lemon Grove on Saturday night.
From left to right are W. L. "Bart" Bartholomew, maintenance foreman, Joseph Coderre, custodian, and Jerry Heath, head custodian as they get ready to clean up. Some 200 man hours have been spent at the San Altos School cleaning up from the destructive work of two youthfud suspects. No estimate has been made on the damage at either school.

San Altos, Golden Ave. Ransacked

Heavy damage was inflicted upon the San Altos Elementary School at 1750 Madera st., and the Golden Ave. Elementary School, both in Lemon Grove during this past week.

The suspects, two young Mexican males were held overnight in juvenile hall by San Diego County Sheriff. The two youths were arrested Saturday night while in the process of raiding the Masonic Temple at 2590 Main st., Lemon Grove.

Bernard Schwartz, director of Juvenile services of the S.D. County Probation Department said that the Department can hold youngsters for only 48 hours without pressing formal charges.

The formal charge had not reached his hands at the end of the 48 hour period, so the youths had to be released pending notification of them.

Schwartz stated that there may be some sort of communications gap between the paper work and the case.

He did say that at any rate the case has not been closed.

The youths, one 17-years-old, and the other 16-years-old had gained entry to the Lemon Grove Masonic Hall by breaking a window.

Calvin W. Johnson, Master of the Lodge, called sheriff's deputies to the scene shortly after midnight Saturday.

The youths attempted to flee through a window in a restroom but were caught at gun point.

It is believed that the two suspects are the same suspects that entered the San Altos School on Thursday night.

The Lemon Grove School District has not been able to calculate the damage at the school as of press time.

Officials said that entrance was gained into the San Altos school by breaking a window adjacent to the principal's office.

Heavy damage was sustained in the teacher's aid and supply room as well as the school cafeteria. Papers, books, paint, glue, along with artificial snow were thrown on the walls and floors.

Duplicating fluid was dumped into office machines rendering them incapable of use. Tile on the floor has been ruined by the fluids.

The suspects took keys from a key locker and used them to enter other locked rooms in the school where they caused further damage.

A coke machine was completely ruined. They failed to get $1 in change in the machine. In the cafeteria they smashed a cash register that had its drawer open.

They poured flower, sugar, cola, grape juice and other materials on the cash register. After that they shattered the mechanical parts of the electric machine.

A note was found in one damaged typewriter saying, "Peace and love forever."

The teachers' dining room was left in shambles as food stuffs from the cafeteria supply room were thrown about. Cans were opened with the contents being dumped on walls and floors. Tape recorders as well as other equipment was taken.

Golden Ave. School Is Hit Next

On Saturday night the Golden Ave. Elemenary school was the scene of like distress.

Officials were tipped off when the suspects triggered the fire alarm system as they were destroying the console unit that the school uses for

Gas Co. Office Robbed

The Lemon Grove office of the San Diego Gas & Electric Co. was robbed of a small amount of money at 11:10 a.m. Friday by two youths.

The branch office, at 3358 Main st., was heldup by the two youthful looking suspects who ranged from 18 to 20 years-of-age.

The two entered the office and jumed over a counter and scooped the money from a drawer. Two employees, Linda Peterson and Irene Newman were the only persons in the office at the time of the robbery. No one was hurt.

According to the San Diego County Sheriff's deputies, the two ran from the office, halting just long enough to fire a shot outside of the office and leave the scene by foot.

The two ran around the corner of the office, (south on Main st., and ducked down an alley where they disappeared.

The suspects were identified as being between 5'-5" while the other at 5'-7" in height and dark-skinned.

Wrong-Way Accident Takes Woman's Life

A wrong-way traffic collision on Interstate 5 at National City took the life of Mrs. Sandra Lyn Arviso, 26, of 2334 Main st., Lemon Grove Friday at 2:50 a.m.

Mrs. Arviso drove her sedan 2.1 miles north on the freeway in the southbound lane before the accident. Her car collided with aother driven by William H. Larrance, 41, of Bell, Calif.

Larrance suffered a head injury. Anthony A. Kiedis, 31, of West Covina, a passenger with him, received forehead abrasion.

Both men were treated at Paradise Valley Hospital.

Mrs. Arviso, the mother of two daughters, Dina and Dawn, was pronounced dead at Paradise Valley Hospital.

Police officials believed that Mrs. Arviso became confused while intending to go south and entered the wrong lane.

She was a classified advertising copy control clerk for the Union-Tribune Publishing Co. Her father is A. G. Buckli, a highway patrol officer who resides in Chula Vista.

Her children were at home with the care of a babysitter when the fatal accident occured. Mrs. Arviso's husband, Manuel, was notified and took custody of the children.

Tax Relief Hopes Are Still High

County residents may still have a last minute hope for property tax relief.

Governor Ronald Reagan called Tuesday for the 1968 Legislature to move back into session if both parties can reach basic agreements.

Both Republicans and Democrats have pushed for $155 million in property tax relief. Neither party has been able to come in agreement on tax relief.

The Assembly returns from its "recess on Sept. 9 while the Senate is expected to go back on that same day for the constitutional five-day meeting limited to consideration of gubernatorial vetoes.

To date, property tax relief measures put up before the law makers and representa-

Acreage Rezoned For Apartments

SAN DIEGO (CNA)—Nearly seven acres of land in Casa de Oro was rezoned for apartments Tuesday by the board of supervisors.

The land is at the southeast corner of Kenora dr. and Freeway 94. The primary applicant is Herman W. Scharer.

The county planning commission in recommending the rezone said the apartment zone is a logical one next to the freeway and the commercial and industrial zone north of the freeway.

Freeways Deprive the Rich

Rich people are being discriminated against; rich motorists in particular, is a new socialogical argument.

It would take a college professor to dream this up — and that's who did it.

"Motorists using the freeways at peak hours should pay for this privilege instead of all motorists being taxed equally," insists Wilbur Thompson, a professor of economics at Wayne State University. He spells it out in an article in PSYCHOLOGY TODAY magazine.

Motorists using street space at the rush hour should pay more of the cost of building freeways than motorists who drive during off peak periods, he explained.

On a multi-lane freeway, the peak hour motorists should share the cost of the lanes for normal freeway use, while bearing the full cost of the outer lanes they alone require.

Professor Thompson listed public museums, marinas, and golf courses as other instances of distorted economics.

Equal pay for urban teachers is another horrible example, he said.

Well, the prof has a couple of interesting arguments he's

College Trustees Fill New Posts

Three new administrative positions at Grossmont Junior College have been filled. The District trustees created tde positions a month ago.

Richard Lowe, has been named dean of arts and sciences while Mrs. Theresa Voltz and Edward L. Krehbiel will fill the other two positions.

Lowe, 40, holds a master's degree from the Univ. of South Dakota. He was dean of students at Clackamas Community College in Oregon City, Ore.

He is presently participating in a Kellog Junior College leadership program at UCLA. He has experience in administrative matters in both high school and college levels.

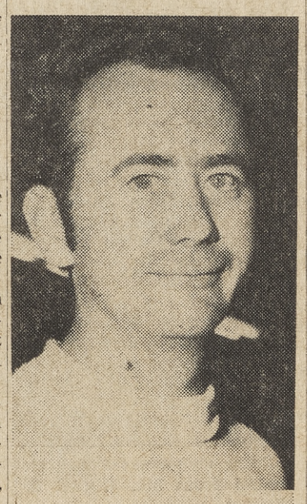
Mrs. Voltz, a Hoover High School teacher, will be assistant to the dean of student activities, while Krehbiel will act as assistant to the dean of the evening division and summer session.

Mrs. Volz, who holds a master's degree from San Diego State College has been a senior counselor and history teacher at Hoover High.

She is a registered nurse and has worked in surgery at Mercy hospital. She later taught health education at State College.

Krehbiel is a native of Los Angeles. He holds a master's degree from Long Beach State College and a doctorate from the Univ. of Minnesota.

He is a member of the Calif. Teachers Assn. and has taken part in diabetes studies. He has authored an article on fetal deaths published in a Human Genetics magazine.



Special Ambulance Gets Test

The San Diego County Board of Supervisors has approved a $9,000 grant that will be used to finance the second demonstration project using helicopters as transportation for accident victims.

The air ambulance will be used again for emergency service throughout the County in a seven-day test during the Labor Day holiday period.

The county used the pilot program for emergency transportation during the Fourth of July Holiday weekend. The weekend was relatively accident-free and the helicopter was used to airlift only two accident victims.

There were other accidents, but some persons were not in need of hospitalization or refused to board the helicopter.

The new test period will begin on August 28 and end on Sept. 3.

During the test, both conventional ambulances and the air ambulance will be sent to accident sites.

It has been estimated that if the county were to go on a year-long test period, the service would cost between $135,000 to $150,000. The new test may also include some of the freeways within the populated sections of San Diego.

During the earlier test period, the air ambulance was used in County areas were rescue service had time handicap.

WATER FUN: Members of the La Mesa-Spring Valley School District Safety Patrol are shown as they enjoy the water at the Camp Palomar Pool at Palomar.

The group of approximately 100 boys and girls attended the week camp as a reward for their service in the school safety patrol program.

100 LM-SV Safety Patrol Members Treated To Week At Camp Palomar

Approximately 100 La Mesa boys and girls attended camp recently as a reward for their service in the School Safety Patrol. Youngsters who graduated last June from the sixth grade spent the week at Camp Palomar. Officer Jim Meek was in charge of the group.

Three weeks earlier Safety Patrol members from the Spring Valley Schools also attended camp. Officer John Annis of the California Highway Patrol was their escort.

Glenn Adams, La Mesa Chief of Police, said the camp experience is cosponsored by the San Diego County Board of Supervisors, California Highway Patrol and participating city police departments.

Adams said the outing is designed as a fun-type activity but it also provides opportunities for nature and science experiences.

Adams said, "We have been participating in the school safety patrol program since the 1940s. The camp experience is a small reward for a job well done."

According to Meek, morning activities for the boys and girls include nature hikes and visits to the Palomar Observatory and museum, the Boucher Hill fire lookout, and the camp museum.

Meek said a highlight for many of the boys and girls is the opportunity to handle snakes and other reptiles.

Afternoon activity includes individual and organized games and other nature hikes. In the evenings, the patrol members see feature movies and participate in camp sings.

Annis said the State Forestry Department participated in the Spring Valley camp fire program. Werner von Bergen, Parkway Junior High science teacher, this year supervised the Paomar camp program for the San Diego City/County Camp Commission.

Meek said the girls attended a separate camp last year but this year both boys and girls were assigned to Camp Palomar. He said the youngsters had a good time and some of them practically lived in the swimming pool.

They also liked to watch the raccoons and deer which wandered into the campgrounds. The science-fiction movies were especially popular.

Staff also included camp counselors and Officers Ken Spencer and Bill Nelson of the California Highway Patrol, Meek said. Bus transportation to and from camp was provided by the La Mesa-Spring Valley School District.

Lovely Little Dolls Emerge From Castoff Dress Fabrics

by Max Goodwin

A Chula Vista women who formerly lived on North ave. in Lemon Grove, is buoying the spirits of families of Lemon Grove and Spring Valley Vietnam servicemen.

The woman, Florence Barrett, gives dolls to soldiers' children.

She supplies the dolls, handmakes the clothes, and delivers the dolls without any cost or obligation on the part of the service family.

Mrs. Barrett, a comely mother of a son of her own in Vietnam, does it not only to help the morale of service families, but to help her own morale.

Her son, Lloyd, is serving in Thailand—100 miles from the Vietnamese border. He has three years and six months yet to serve. "It helps keep my mind off Lloyd," she says.

Mrs. Barrett made and gave more than 20 dolls to service families last month. She anticipates giving more than that this month.

She gives them without regard for the recipients' race, creed or color. Some are sent to area families as the result of direct requests from men in Vietnam. One commanding officer sent her names of ten men in his command who wanted dolls sent to their daughters in this area. The officer apologized for the small list because "not many of my men are married."

Mrs. Barrett's plans are not miniscule. She is planning to have a "couple hundred ready for Christmas. That's when the rush will come," she said.

What started out to be a time-killing hobby has turned into a good-sized project. She has called on two lady friends to help with the washing and sewing.

"We depend on contributions of worn out and broken dolls and unwanted fabrics and trimmings," she explained. "The demand for dolls has grown so great that just washing the cloth and sterilizing the dolls has become a big chore."

In addition to pleading for outright gifts of dolls and fabric, she prowls Goodwill, rummage, garage and white elephant sales, spending her own money for usable items. She also spends her own money for new shoes for the dolls. These have to be purchased from a doll manufacturing firm in Los Angeles, she said.

The project has become so great that she is unable to deliver dolls to the more distant points — so she mails them, paying the postage herself.

The finished dolls are "dreamy." No fashion-conscious lady ever stepped out of a Paris gown shop better dressed. Depending on the material, she dresses them in Early American, Dutch, Deep South, Irish, and whatever other styles that the material suggest to her.

Mrs. Barrett, whose husband is a commercial artist at Rohr Aircraft, learned to sew for her two now-grown daughters, and a grand-daughter.

"I always wanted to do charity work and giving my time and sewing talents is the nearest to it I ever came," she said.

Mrs. Barrett needs dolls. She needs material and trimmings. The dolls may even be wrecked. She transposes parts from one to another to make them complete — and beautiful again, she said.

She needs material of any kind. Old dresses, particularly formals, from which enough material can be cut to dress a doll are desirable. She has a small group of non-sewing ladies who will pick up dolls or materials.

"If donors will call me at my home between 6 and 10 p.m. they can always get me," she said.

Mrs. Barrett's telephone number is 420-1673. She said she will accept requests directly from families of servicemen. What's more, she'll send dolls to service children anywhere in the U.S. and pay parcel post costs herself.

But, to keep going, she needs old dolls, old fabrics, and old trimmings which include binding, costume jewelry, hats and lace.

"Call anytime," she said. "But I'll always be home after 6."

Hardison's Telespanish

by James Hardison

What are some of the Spanish ordinal numbers and how are they use? Ordinal numbers are referred to as "numeros ordinales." They begin with "Primero, secundo, tecero, and cuarto" and would be translated as "first, second, third, and fourth."

Ordinal numbers are adjectives and are most frequently used to modify nouns. For example, the expression "Calle segunda" has the ordinal number "segunda" which modifies the noun "calle." This would be translated as "Second Street."

Another expression, "primera vez (first time), demonstrates the use of the ordinal "primera." In this case "primera" is the adjective which modifies the noun "vez."

Ordinal numbers may be either masculine or feminine in gender. "Segundo" is masculie and "segunda" is feminine. You will note that the masculine form ends in "o" and the feminine form ends in "a".

Gender of ordinal numbers is determined by the noun that they modify. If the noun being modified is masculine, the ordinal number will be masculine. If the noun being modifeed is feminine, the ordinal number will be femiie. Accordigly, "la segunda muchacha" (the second girl) and "El segundo muchaco" (the second boy) demonstrate the feminine and masculine forms.

Phrases below use the Spanish ordinal numbers. You may practice them with the recorded voice when you dial 276-2762 on your telephone.

Bike Riders Get Warning

Every year hundreds of boys and girls across the nation are killed in bike accidents and in the vast majority of bike-car collisions the youngster, not the driver, is at fault, J. H. Twiss, Regional Manager of the Allstate Insurance Companies said.

In four out of five cases the cyclist has violated a law or traffic rule. Most often the youngster was killed because he mistakenly took the right of way, made an improper turn or disregarded a stop sign or traffic signal.

Other causes include riding in the center of the street, on the wrong side of the street facing traffic or carrying passengers. Allstate reminds parents that in most states bikes are governed by the same laws as motor vehicles, and riders are required to obey traffic laws.

Bikes should match the size of their riders and should be adjusted properly. Coaster brakes, lights and a horn are essential equipment on any bicycle, Twiss said.

Social Security News

This newspaper presents this question and answer column about the Social Security Program as a public service to our readers. The questions are those most frequently asked about Social Security. The answers are provided by Sumio Oto, El Cajon Social Security District Manager.

Q. Why are the social security taxes raised from time to time?

A. Social security taxes are raised from time to time to finance increased benefit amounts and other improvements in the program. When benefits are increased and new types of benefits are added, the costs increase and social security taxes must be raised accordingly.

Q. I have read that custodial care is not covered by Medicare. What is meant by custodial care?

A. Sometimes the kind of care people receive is needed primarily to help them meet the neds of dailyy living; that is, assistanc in bathing, dressing, eating, walking, or taking medicine on schedule. When meeting these needs is the primary purpose of the care being furnished, it is considered to be custodial care.

If you have further questions regarding the Social Security Law, contact or write the Social Security District Office, 570 North Second Street, El Cajon, California 92021.

The office is open from 8:30 a.m. until 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday and until 7:30 p.m. on Wednesdays. The telephone number is 442-0851.

Research Grants Made

Ten new research grants totaling $61,934 have been awarded from 1967 California Christmas Seal Contributions, Dr. Raymond I. Downs, Lemon Grove-Spring Valley area cchairman of the Tuberculosis & Health Assn. of San Diego County, said.

The grants, ranging from a study of lipid fats found in bacteria that holds promise for an extract that will protect against TB infection to a study of emphysema in the horse, are supported in part by local contributions, Doctor Downs said.

Each of California's 45 local Christmas Seal associations contributes a percentage of its annual campaign to a statewide fund from which grants for researcch and medical education are awarded by a committee of scientific experts.

What Our Readers Write To The Editor

Dear Editor:

It is hard to belive, but I can prove it. In 1951 I thought I was reasonably cautious when I bought a nice home, not on the floor of the valley, but half way up the hill on Golf dr. in Spring Valley.

I paid title insurance and I looked the place over well and was satisfied.

I knew then that the taxes were going to be over three times as much as my brother-in-law was paying for a corresponding size place in Mt. Dora, Florida.

I knew also that this area gets only about ten inches of rain each year so that I was going to have to pay considerable for water.

What I had no way of knowing was that my property would some day be damaged extensively by flood water directed across my property by the County Road Department, and that when this happened they would assume no responsibility.

This property is now rented to a good tenant that I stand to lose because each reasonably heavy shower causes mud to boil up through a hole it has made in my driveway. This mud covers the carport, drive, patio and back yard.

The county compelled the owner that built this place and his neighbors to put a drain across the back of these lots and hook it to the south end of the culvert which crosses Golf Drive just north of the lot next to mine.

No easement was taken by the County that the title insurance could repor, nor was I to know that these flood waters were being conducted across my property these many years until the hole open-ed up in my driveway and a crack opened up the full length of the floor of my carport.

This line is now plugged solid with dirt the full length of the properties to the south of me nad over half he width of my lot, to the hole where it now boils out with each heavy rain. This is all very well with the County Road Department, the flood control people and the supervisors. They know about it and say that it is the property owner's problem, even though they have been directing more water and mud through this culvert than it was originally intended to carry.

I naturally do not agree with them, but I still have state my willingness to pay part of the expense owards correcting the situation, but my neighbors who are not at present being damaged, do not care to help in a like manner. They say it is up to the county, but even though I agree with them I happen to be the one who is being damaged.

Why would the building inspectors have issued a permit to build the carport directly over this drain line (so that the line could never be properly maintained) when the building could have just as well been located clear of this drain?

I had always understood that building restrictions were demanded so as to protect not only the presen but all fuure owners of a property?

The neighbor to the south of me is no longer having problems since the drain is plugged past his property and most of the way across my lot. I can only hope that the line will continue to fill up all the way through the culvert on Golf Drive. Then possibly the Road Department will direct the water the rest of the way along Golf Drive to the floor of the valley, instead of turning it at right angles through this culvert that now turns it all into my property.

Now, Mr. Editor, I think you know me well enough to know I have only given you the facts. Without seeing it I know it is hard to believe.

I guess my only relief will have to be obtained through the courts. I no longer have money to spend in this manner but isn't it odd the way a fellow can get flooded out so easy in high land in this area of such little rainfall?

You pay high property taxes just to have one branch of that County unit flood you out and then practically tell you to sink or swim.

As Ever,
Fred W. Carmichael

Dear Editor:

On behalf of the Social Security Administration, I wish to thank you for your cooperation in helping us explain the Social Security Law to the public.

Since our El Cajon office opened, June 19, 1967, there has been a great need to inform the public in our service area of the existence of this office and of the important changes iin Social Security. It has been most important that the people be made aware of their rights under these changes.

Your assistance and excellent coverage of releases, making the public aware of the foregoing has brought about results which have been rewarding. As a consequence of this publicity, a great many more people have established their eligibility for benefits under Social Security than would have otherwise.

Again, I wish to express my appreciation for your valuable assistance to both the Social Security Administration and to your reading public.

Sincerely yours,
Sumio Oto
District Manager

Nine Miles To Be Added To Highway 8

The California Division of Highways is seeking bids to construct another 3 miles of Interstate 8 Freeway east of Alpine, extending the freeway from San Diego to 9 miles east of Alpine — a distance of 38 miles.

District Engineer Jacob Dekema said the 3-mile freeway lies between Alpine and Japatul Valley road, and will consist of constructing a 4-lane freeway on new alignment with an additional truck climbing lane. The eastbound truck climbing lane will extend an additional 3.7 miles westerly along the 4-lane freeway now under cconstruction.

Two parallel bridges 600 feet in length will be built across the Sweetwater River, and also a Vista Point for eastbound traffic to overlook the river west of the bridge. Near the easterly limit of the project, an interchange will be built at Japatul Valley road northeast of Viejas Honor Camp.

Completion of the freeway section, expected by summer of 1970 will eliminate the series of sharp curves on the Viejas Grade. One of the highest highway embankments in the State of California will be included in the projecct just west of the Sweetwater River. This section of Interstate 8 is included in the State Master Plan for Scenic Highways.

A $29,000 contribution is being made by San Diego County.

Bids will be opened in Los Angeles on August 22nd, and if found to be satisfactory, work could be under way within 30 days.

Grossmont College Football Team Opens Double Sessions On Aug. 30

The Grossmont Junior College football team will open double sessions on August 30 with physicals and team meetings opening into limelight.

The Griffins will take to the practice field on Sept. 2 when more than 75 candidates expected to be suited up for action.

The season opener will be on Sept. 21 when the Griffins take on San Diego City College at Balboa Stadium.

Head coach Clint Whitfield, in his first year at the helm for the team, will attempt to pull the college out of its annual under the .500 mark.

Whitfield said, "We are very optimistic at this point about the future of the football team." The coach said that spirit is running high among the administration, the student body and the players.

The Griffins will be in their first season of play in the new Southeastern Conference.

The Coach said, "The team that wins the conference title will probably suffer at least one loss. The league is a well balanced one."

Whitfield pointed out that the college will have two scrimmages prior to their opening game.

The first will be on Sept. 7 when they take part in a three-way scrimmage at Orange Coast College in Hunnington Beach.

He said that Orange Coast along with Mira Costa from the Oceanside area will give the Griffins a taste of action.

The other scrimmage will be held on Sept. 14 at the Granite Hills High School stadium when they go against Imperial Valley.

The Sept. 14 scrimmage will get underway at 6 p.m. It will be open to the public.

Whitfield said "Our entire attack is going to be different this year. We have a new offensive and defensive system that we are going to employ.

"We are going to turn some heads. Hard nose warfare is going to be used. Those who don't fit in the pattern will be out cold."

The coaching staff will be comprised of Bob Rump, Dick McMinn, Bill Perkins and Keith Richardson. Rump stepped down from the pilot's seat of Grossmont College after pacing the football team to a 2-7 record last year.

McMinn has been coaching the Griffins line for three years. Perkins and Richardson, both experienced coaches and former players will work with the team on a part-time basis.

Whitfield is looking forward to having some 10-12 players returning from last year's club to help pace their attack.

He said that he expects Ralph Baker, a tight end and along with Don Bainum a guard, both of Santana High School and Gary Medina, former San Miguel player to highlight his prospective list of players.

Lucky Fleming, will return as a receiver. Tim Egan and Lee Stalker will round out the veterans. Fleming, Egan and Stalker played high school football at Grossmont.

He said that several other good looking prospects have been lined up.

The team will see Rick Riker of El Capitan High School moving into his first year of college making a bid for quarterback.

Riker will be competing with Le Roy Woods, a former El Cajon High School player.

Woods attended the University of Arizona at Flagstaff last year. He was third string quarterback for them on offensive and played one of the top positions as a defensive back.

The coach said, "We are going for the running game on offensive. We don't know if we are going to employ the Wing of the "I" formations yet."

We will have to decide exactly what type of play we are going to have to mold around the club after we have had some time to work with the players."

The schedule is as follows:

Sept. 7, Orange Coast, Mira Costa—Away—11 a.m.

Sept. 14, Imperial Valley—Home—6 p.m.

Sept. 21, San Diego City—Away—8 p.m.

Charger-Steeler Clash To Bring Fireworks

Fireworks will be seen at San Diego Stadium as the Chargers take on the Pittsburgh Steelers of the National League at 8 p.m. Saturday night.

The Chargers bowed to Pittsburgh 16-7 last year in preseason play and the Steelers will be out for the win again this year.

It is expected that Coach Sid Gillman will go with his first string team. It is interesting to watch Gillman as he sends his rookies against the AFL teams and his top dogs against the NFL competition.

The talk about town is that the Chargers looked good against San Francisco, who has a weak team, and should look good against the Steelers, the East coast equal of San Francisco.

It would be interesting to see what would happen if Gillman were to send in his rookie quarterback Kay Stephenson.

Stephenson, who played the entire game against Oakland, with a full complement of rookies really couldn't be judged in respect to what he has as a quarterback.

The Chargers have a well balanced attack this year, but may experience some trouble defensively. They are still weak in their pass defense.

A win over the Steelers would insure the Charger box office of a sell-out at the San Diego vs. L.A. Rams game.

It might be worthwhile to mention that today, exhibition football is not what it was set up for, or at least in the eyes of many coaches.

Exhibition play was when a coach would put his rookies into play and judge them by their actions. If they panned out they made it, if not they got cut. Today, you must win in order to make your mark, this includes pre-season play.

As the Oakland fans still rage over the playing of Charger rookies, Gillman is sitting on his high stool with a big grin . . . but he has a good idea of what he has to work with.

Toros Face Vancouver Monday In League Bid

The Toros, San Diego's entry in the National Soccer League, will attempt to hang onto their 14 point lead over Oakland as they face the Vancouver Royals Monday night at 8 p.m. at Balboa Stadium.

Vancouver is in third place in the Pacific Division standings with 119 points. The Toros have 158. The Canadians play a mean game of soccer and if they knock off the local entry Oakland could move out in front in league standings.

Dick Walsh, commissioner of the North American Soccer League will be on hand to watch the action. A preliminary game between the Transportes de Mexico of Tijuana and the Panamerica team of San Diego will face off at 6:30 p.m.

As an extra attraction, the Toros have reduced general admission seats from $2 to $1.

Rockets Are Happy With 1968-69 Schedule

The San Diego Rockets are going to be on the road for 41 games this year. This will include eight neutral court games and only one visit to Beantown when they face the Celtics in the Boston Garden.

They will face the Celts in a Feb. 4 collision at the Houston Astrodome and in another neutral court game they will tip off against the World Champs in Philadelphia.

Coach Jack McMahon said, "That means we only have to play in Boston on Nov. 11 and that has to be to our advantage."

The Rockets will play each NBA team three times away from home. They are going to have to face the Lakers four times at the Forum in Los Angeles.

McMahon said that he is generally happy with the schedule since it only calls for the Rockets to make five road trips of two games or more and allows for 12 one-game visits.

The month of December, in additon to being the coldest in most areas, and the roughest weather wise, will see tough going for the Rockets also.

They will have 10 road games that month. In November and February they have only 9 away.

Closing out McMahon said, "This is a much better balanced road schedule than last year, because we don't have all the long trips which hurt us so much in 1967-68.

Their first road trip opens on Oct. 18 in San Francisco.

Soccer Team Is Formed

A group of Lemon Grove and Spring Valley youths are forming a soccer team that will meet with other clubs in the San Diego County Soccer League.

Heading the players is Paul Jenkins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Grant Jenkins, 8181 Braddock pl., Lemon Grove. Paul works with the San Diego Toros in the Press section.

Applications are now being accepted from players. Heading the group is James W. Rex, of 2291 Cypress ave., Lemon Grove, who will act as director and coach until an appointment can be made.

Rex can be contacted at 469-0311. He has also asked that any persons interested in coaching or helping the team to contact him.

The local entry will take part in a 9 team league. They are expected to swing into action around mid-September.

Rex, who is secretary of the league said that he has a good backbone of players from last year's team but he wants to round the club out.

He was quick to point out the developing soccer rivalry between Los Angeles and San Diego.

He said that this has developed from the National Junior Olympic soccer trials held recently in the Rose Bowl.

San Diego had four junior representatives qualify in their bid. After the trials two San Diego players were selected to go to San Jose, to take part in a week's expenses-paid trial with professional supervision in preparation for the contest.

Cajon Speedway Auto Racing Highlights

Tex Kimbrell of Imperial Beach continued to dominate action in super stock auto racing at the Cajon Speedway as he plunged out in front of contention in league standings by 1,148 points.

Kimbrell won the main event in the super stocks as he continued his pace. He now has four wins to his credit at the track.

Richard White of Escondido is in second place with a 2,736 point talley and with three wins to his credit. Bill Butts of El Cajon is holding down third place with 2,694 points. Butts has won four main events.

Jim Hitt of Lemon Grove continues to hold down a firm sixth place in league standings. He has a 2,148 point total. He is just behind Jim Whitt of El Cajon who has 2,318. Hitt has yet to win a main event.

In the limited stock car action, Joel Blodgett of El Cajon is in top slot in league standings. He has scored 213 points without any wins to his credit.

Clay Williams of Spring Valley is in seventh place, just one point from moving into a sixth place tie with Henry Clark of El Cajon. Williams has 111 points in standings.

On Friday night, August 16, the modifieds will return to the track in San Diego Racing Assoc. action as they tip off at 8 p.m.

Bob Hogle of Buena Park is leading the league with five wins to his name and a total of 695 points in standings. Don Hamilton of El Cajon is behind him with a 310 point score.

Figure 8 racing will also be featured on the Friday night twin-bill. Ed Hale of El Cajon and Lanny Pemberton of Lemon Grove will be battleing it out for first place.

Hale, with a 370 point total sees Pemberton behind him with a 260 score. Holding down third place is Mike Heuslein of La Posta with 230.

On Saturday night, the super stocks and the stockers will swing into action. Trophy dash time is slated for 8 p.m.

Qualifications start at 6:30 p.m. both nights.

Pitt Patter:

In the pits happiness will reign supreme. The announcement that Bob Hogle and the Peat Bros. car will not return to Cajon Speedway has made many modified drivers happy.

Dick Zimmerman, Santa Anna; Ace Duncan, Santee; Dick Fries, Santee; Les Crawford, Lakeside and Carl Adams of El Cajon have all posted second place finishes.

Top pick in the point standings would be Don Hamilton of El Cajon and a wide open battle is expected for the rest of the season.

The program will feature a new method of progressive heat races of 8 laps , with the fourth and fifth finishers in each heat moving on to the next heat with 6 cars added.

The second phase of the dual program Mike Heuslein of La Posta, last race winner; will face a field of 25 figure 8 cars vieing on the ½ mile course with the intersection in the center.

Lyle Jacquot of National City, Skip Stenmore, of Lakeside; Dan Danner of El Cajon and Ret Thompson of Lemon Grove will be out to catch Heuslein.

Fords, Chevy's, Olds, Buicks, Chryslers, Pontiacs and Ramblers will go to the post Saturday night at 8 p.m. as more than 100 super and limited stock racing cars compete in the 13 event program.

Top cars from all over San Diego County will convene at the local smokepath. Kimbrell of Imperial Beach; White of Escondido; Butts of El Cajon; Vance Butler of La Cresta; Jim Hitt of Lemon Grove; George Esau of San Diego and Russ Bullen of Chula Vita will be among the drivers in competition.

Gill Stephens of Spring Valley along with Charlie Brown of Clairmont; Ross Anderson of Poway and John Hutchison of La Mesa will also be out for top money.

Kimbrell is now tied with Bill Butts for main event wins with three, while single winners include George Esau, Odie Robertson and Vance Butler.

The only two twime champion is Russ Bullen, but Kimbrell is in good position to challenge this feat in 1968.

Monte Vista Swim Team Faces Uncertain Future

by Scott McGaugh

The Monte Vista boys' swimming team "will be a team with an uncertain future," according to coach Fred Wadsworth.

The squad, whose season starts in February, lost many valuable swimmers due to graduation. Many Juniors are expected to help fill the gap.

Mark Hodges should be the Monarch's distance man. Mark will fill the hole left by Mike Mill's departure. "Mark is a fine Junior who is looking up," said coach Wadsworth.

Sprint men will be Gordon Dunsill and Tom O'Connell who hope to replace Dave Sporleder. Steve Brown and Fred Blocker will head one of the strongest diving team ever.

Backstrokers that are being considered are Mike Davis and Cliff Grant. Butterfly men will be Brad Julihn and Rob Morell.

Coach Wadsworth expects 100 boys to go out for swimming this coming season. Juniors will constitute a major part of the Varsity team with sopohomores taking over the JV.

The Varsity squad last year finished with a 4-6 record. They captured fifth in the Grossmont League and twelth in the CIF Finals.

The Junior Varsity turned in an excellent 9-1 record with a second place finish in the league. The JV took tenth in the CIF Finals.

The Frosh were 8-1 this year with a second place in the league. Despite their first place finish in the league finals, the Frosh took second due to a loss to Helix.

The Monte Vista bid for a pool will again come before the Grossmont board soon. The Monarchy is asking only for money for operational costs.

Helix should be the team to beat next year. Grossmont and Mount Miguel along with Monte Vista are expected to battle for the 2-3-4 spots this year.

Easy-to-Chargers Bus Schedule Set

Direct-to-the-stadium buses will start their schedules at 6:30 p.m., an hour and a half before game time for Saturday night's exhibition game between the San Diego Chargers and the Pittsburgh Steelers.

Buses will leave from five different locations on the direct-stadium run at a minimum of 20 minute intervals. Most will leave as they are filled.

The special stadium fare of 50 cents will enable fans to travel from any point on the San Diego Transit network, changing buses as necessary.

Football fans are instructed to tell the bus driver their destination is the stadium when they pay the 50 cent one-way fare. The driver will issue a stadium card which entitles them to unlimited transfers in order to connect with direct-stadium buses.

Direct-stadium buses will leave and return immediately following the game to the shopping center parking lot, College & Highway 94.

Deddeh's Bill, AB1272 Receives Assembly Nod

A Deddeh sponsored bill (AB 1272) to provide for the State of California's participation in the Sweetwater Flood Control Project has been signed by Acting Governor Hugh Burns. Senator Burns signed the measure on Aug. 7.

AB 1272 will provide for an estimated 4 million dollars in savings to the taxpayers, according to Deddeh. The savings will occur because of the economies achieved by cooperation and joint construction of State Highway 54, and the Federal Flood Control Project. The State's share in the project is $2 million to reimburse local governments for the cost of acquiring the land.

Schools

communications, clocks, and the fire alarm.

The Lemon Grove Fire Dept. called Jerry Heath, district custodian, who went to the school to reset the alarm. When he arrived and saw the condition of the school, he called the sheriff's office.

The sheriff's office had a car on it's way when Heath called. The suspects had apparently fled the scene when the alarm went off.

Officials found a brown paper sack with tapes in it. It is believed that they forgot the sack or did not have time to pick it up as they ran.

At the Golden Ave. school, they smashed windows, typewriters, clocks, electrical equipment, pulled school records out of their files and threw them on the floor as well as tossing or tearing anything that was in sight.

Additional damage was done to the walls with hammers. Cork-boards had holes poked in them.

Blood was found at the window where they made their entrance.

Sheriff's officials took the two suspects to County University Hospital, from the Masonic Temple, where they were treated for numerous cuts and lacerations on their hands and bodies.

The older suspect resides at 2092 Berry st., Lemon Grove. The other is a resident of 4129 Georgia st., San Diego.

Weeks Apartment Project Denied By Supervisors

SAN DIEGO (CNA) — A request for apartment zoning in Lemon Grove was denied on Monday by the county board of supervisors upon the recommendation of the planning commission.

W. Lloyd Fish as agent for R. A. Weeks had requested the R-3 zone for about 4.3 acres of land at the southeast corner of Central and Mass. aves. The present zoning is for R-2-A, a duplex zone that allows duplexes on 6,000 square foot lots.

The allowable density in R-3 is one dwelling unit for each 1,000 square feet of land.

The decision of the board was delayed for several weeks until a full board could be present.

Testimony at the hearing showed that the development in the section has not been into duplexes primarily but into single family residences on lots generally larger than 6,000 square feet.

Supervisor Henry A. Boney said the requested reclassification would be a spot zone. He said it may be that in the future, a larger section will request a more suitable rezone.

Board members said an improvement in the road system would probably be necessary before this would be acceptable.

12 Area Students Named To Dean's List At Berkeley

Almost 5,000 undergraduates at the University of California's Berkeley campus have made the Honor List, placing them in the top of the undergraduate student body in academic performance.

Among the 4,997 students named are: Karen Jeanne Sjogren and David Mark Walba, both of Lemon Grove.

From La Mesa: James Richard Adams, Thomas Roger Gillman, Claude Lesley Kishler, jr., James Craig McReynolds, Brian Ralph Thompson, Paul Goodwin Buckelew, Curtis Neal Johnson, Mary Louise Denman MacIlvaine, Anne Whittle Roberts, and Stephen Elon Yale.

The list, based on work completed by the end of the academic year, includes all students who have completed at least one semester at Berkeley and have a grade average of "B" or better for all work undertaken.

Those named to the list gain certain privileges not granted to other students. They have the option of taking part in honors programs — generally individual study in particular fields of interest under close supervision by a member of the faculty.

Honor students are named by the deans of the various schools and colleges.

Cable Median Barrier Bids Open Sept. 5

The California Division of Highways is seeking bids for installing 2.4 miles of cable median barrier and raised pavement markers in La Mesa.

District Engineer Jacob Dekema said that the project will be between 0.2 mile east of Baltimore Drive and Grossmont Summit (0.7 mile east of the Interstate 5-State Route 125 Interchange.

Installation of the median barrier will afford motorists additional protection from head-on collisions, while the raised markers will provide better lane delineation at night and during stormy weather.

Bids will be opened in Los Angeles on Sept. 5 and if found to be satisfactory, work could be under way within 30 days, with completion expected by the end of the year.

Tax

tives have failed to make it into law because of partisan politics.

The first hope of tax relief was with AB-149 which was presented by Assemblyman John R. Veneman, R-Medesto. His bill made it into the senate where it got the "boiler plate" stamp to put it out of acion.

The next move came when the Legislature was presented a new bill for relief to come from welfare money.

The Senate Social Welfare Committee made an attempt to give some sort of relief to taxpayers.

Assemblyman Victor V. Veysey, R-Brawley was the architect of the proposal, but the move was killed in the last day of legislative action.

VFW Program To Feature KKK Witness

The Rev. Delmar Dennis, one of the F.B.I.'s key witnesses to help indentify nine Ku Klux Klan members as principle conspirators in a plot that resulted in the 1964 lynching of three civil rights workers near Philadelphia, Mississippi, will address a public audience in El Cajon at Veterans War Memorial Hall on Saturday at 8p.m. His subject will be, "I Was Inside the K.K.K. for the F.B.I."

Delmar Dennis

According to Mr. Dennis, former pastor of the First Southern Methodist Church of Meridian, Miss., K.K.K. activities took a sharp increase in the south when federal troops were marshalled to enroll James Meredith at the University of Mississippi.

"Many good people resented that arbitrary use of federal power, just as they resented the hoards of bearded, tee shirted beatniks and professional agitators, like Stokely Carmichael and H. Rap Brown, who came trooping into the South."

Because the K.K.K. vows to kill thase who divulge its secrets, Rev. Dennis has been subjected to constant harrassment since he testified as a government witness last October.

As recently as December 11 of last year, an attempt was made on his life in an apparent effort to silence him.

This program is one in a continuing series of lectures sponsored by TACT (Truth About Civil Turmoil) Committees. The local chapters of the TACT Committee include El Cajon, La Mesa, Lemon Grove, Spring Valley, Lakeside and Santee.

Auto Stereo Lifted

Wayne E. Kile, 2004 "F" st., Chula Vista reported to Sheriff's deputies that someone took a car stereo from his vehicle while it was parked at the Spring Valley Shopping Center recenty.

The loss is estimated at $209. Deputies have the case under investigation.

Harry Rhea, William Stinson Retire From School District

Two members of the classified staff of the La Mesa Spring Valley School District retired recently from active service. They were Harry Rhea, general maintenance man, and William Stinson, bus driver.

Both men were well-known to may students, staff and parents as their duties took them around the district. Rhea's retirement came after 20 years of service in the district which began in 1947 when he was employed as a school bus driver.

Rhea soon transferred to the maintenance department where he was assigned the maintenance of all boilers.

William Stinson

Harry Rhea

During a cold spell some years ago which resulted in a local gas shortage, Rhea slept a few nights in the La Mesa Junior High (now Elementary) boiler room, making sure children would have heat in their rooms in the mornings.

A machinist by trade, Rhea in earlier years had been a farmer and an electrician. He also worked for Sheffield Steel, Pratt-Whitney, Chevrolet Ordnance and North Island Air Station.

Rhea and his wife, Connie, once operated restaurants in Kansas City and San Diego. Mrs. Rhea is head of the duplicating department at the school district's Education Center.

Stinson's retirement came after driving district buses for fourteen years. Before coming to La Mesa for health reasons Stinson had owned a three-vehicle trucking line in Brookfield, Missouri, where his drivers hauled livestock and general freight.

The Stinsons celebrated their 46th wedding anniversary on April 30. They have two children, eight grandchildren and two great-grandchildren. Both employees received retirement pins from the California School Employees Association, LM-SV Chapter No. 419 ,and both were honored by members of their respective departments.

Let's take a look at motorists first.

Thompson says that taste patterns of the middle income class predominate the economy. The fact that politicians cater to this class is the heart of the problem, he adds. All this is rational — up to this point.

Then he takes a twisting road and charges that it is the affluent commuter who is being disenfranchised and the whiplash effect of this is that it inadvertatantly debilitated the low-fare, mass transit system on which the poor must depend.

The rich, then, are prevented from buying their way out of annoying traffic congestion. Mrs. Gotrocks shouldn't be required to battle for her place on the freeway if she's willing to pay enough for a smooth, low-traffic, high speed, superway.

Breaking it down to a socialogical formula, Thompson is suggesting that the rich should be allowed to pay for fast movement with money, the middle-income class should be allowed to pay for the convenience and privacy of the automobile with time, and the poor would economize by giving up, or paving with, privacy.

In the teaching profession, Thompson asserts that it is bad economics to insist on equal pay for teachers everywhere throughout the urban area. "It is downright silly to argue that 'equal pay for equal work' is achieved by paying the same money in wages in the slums as in the suburbs'," he said.

"One suspects that the real reason for avoiding salary differentials between 'slums and suburbs' is that the teachers seek to escape the hard choice between higher pay and better working conditions.

"But that is precisely what the price system is supposed to do: equalize sacrifice." Thompson concluded.

A guy can get a headache just thinking about these things, can't he?

Hardwood Plywood Simple To Finish

4 Easy Steps; Several Methods

Hardwood plywood panels are easy to install and can be "natural" finished very simply. The wide color range offered by the various species makes it possible to select panels of the natural color tone desired. When other than natural color is desired, toning, staining or bleaching can be accomplished by following simple instructions provided with finishing materials.

Because every panel is smoothly sanded by the manufacturer, it is ready for finishing without laborious preparation. The soft-toned finishes so popular today are much lower in cost and easier to apply than highly reflective "piano" finishes.

The methods and procedures outlined below are suggested for simple installations. For large projects such as public buildings or institutions a millwork firm and master painter should be consulted.

Step 1—Preparing the Wall

Check wall for plumb. There should be no loose plaster or other irregularities. Panels may be applied directly to an old wall, but it is generally desirable to install furring strips. If an outside wall on which insulation or a moisture barrier is to be used, these should be applied before the furring strips. A usual method is to apply furring horizontally about the room with vertical members "let in" on 16" centers or where the panel joints occur. General spacing for horizontal members is two feet apart, although this may be varied if there is to be a chair rail (30" to 36" from the floor). If wall appears "hollow" in spots, insert shingles or wooden shims so furring strip is straight and true. Use cut steel nails or resin coated nails for attaching furring to plaster walls.

Step 2—Laying Out The Job

Plan sequence of panels about room so that natural color variation form a pleasing patten in complimentary tones, or in direct contrast. if preferred. Lay panels against wall for visual examination prior to nailing. For most interiors it is practical to start paneling from one corner and work about the room. If wall or room has a fireplace or picture window, paneling should be started on each side, or be balanced at the center and the remaining panels placed to the right or left, working about the room. If all panels are same width and window or door units are balanced across a wall area, start at center of the wall and work both ways. Do not be concerned about the natural variations in color as they will enhance the appearance of the room, as long as there is some symmetry of arrangement.

Step 3—Application

Although several joining systems can be used, the simple V joint made by running a plane along the edge of the panel is generally preferred. If a flush butt joint is required, panel should be grooved to receive a spline so alignment will be perfect on surface of panel. Panels may be fastened by small finishing nails or brads which are later counter-sunk and filled with matching plastic wood. Heavier nails may be used at base and top where moldings will cover. Panels also may be glued with electrically cured adhesives or fastened from behind with screws or special fasteners. Combination of small brads and spot glueing is also an effective method. When nailing, be certain to start along one edge of panel and work across width so as to avoid bulges.

Some manufacturers make panels which are grooved or splined on the edges; Others furnish special wood covered metal moldings which hold panels in place. Several types

Crowded For Space? Convert the Garage!

By Chas. S. Bassett

A little ingenuity, some building materials, and professional help or guidance, is all it takes to relieve the overcrowding of your home. Many growing families have solved this problem by converting their garage to an extra bedroom or den, or even an office. The cost of remodeling will certainly be less than purchasing another residence, and in most cases the value of your property would be increased more than the expense involved.

It is advisable to secure the services of an experienced carpenter or builder to assist in the planning, basic structural changes and framing. Much of the work can be done by the homeowner himself, under his supervision. Most lumberyards and building material retailers will cooperate fully with recommendations on the materials and the most efficient way to do the actual construction.

Converting a garage to an additional room is not nearly as big an undertaking as many would imagine. Basically, it consists of replacing the garage door with a wall—then adding a window or door as required. Care should be taken to insure that the design of the openings and the exterior siding harmonizes with the rest of the house front. Other doors and windows may be desirable on the side and back walls. These are easily installed at a minimum of expense if you purchase the type pre-assembled by the manufacturer. All window and door manufacturers supply installation instructions with their products. Pay particular attention to the size of the rough opening. It is recommended that you allow 1/4" extra to avoid the possibility of breakage resulting from forcing. Any small gaps or openings can be filled with caulking compound.

The ceiling itself is no particular problem provided that the home-owner keeps a few basic facts in mind:

1. A ceiling must be flat, smooth and level (unless you prefer a slope).

2. Almost without exception, there is no such thing as a perfectly straight piece of lumber.

The first step is to mark the desired height of the ceiling in one corner; then with a line level and chalk line mark a level line all around the room. A ribbon of 2 x 4's should then be nailed horizontally to the wall studs so that their bottom edges are flush with the chalk line. Ceiling joists are then nailed to this "ribbon", spaced 24 inches apart (on centers), and supported by braces from the rafters to prevent sagging. Each ceiling joist should be checked for straightness with taut line running across the room from the bottom of the "ribbons."

Once wall and ceiling framing is completed, the necessary electrical outlets should be installed. All that remains is to select the type of wall and ceiling material that is most satisfactory to the individual homeowner.

Flameless electric baseboard heating units are easily installed in both new houses and old in less time than you'd ever expect. They provide the even, gentle warmth electric heat is famous for.

Flameless Electric Heat Booming

Electric heat's astounding versatility is one of the many reasons why it is now used in over 3 million homes in the United States and why that number keeps growing in leaps and bounds. Before the development of flameless electric home heating, a heating system was, pretty much, a heating system. Little to choose from, small variation in design.

Now, home builders and homeowners can build their electric comfort conditioning system around their homes and not vice-versa.

Electric baseboard heat, for example, is installed so easily and economically that it's a standout favorite for both old homes and new, according to the Live Better Electrically Program. Any room that has a wall is adaptable to electric baseboard heating—heating that eliminates drafts and hot-spots while giving your house a blanket of clean warmth. A thermostat in each room controls temperature to individual preset levels.

Similarly, any room that has a ceiling can be heated with electric ceiling cable or radiant panels. Imbedded right in the ceiling, these heating units give trouble-free, sunlike warmth to the entire house. A thermostat in each room provides individual temperature levels. Radiant ceiling heat offers complete freedom for furniture and drapery arrangement.

For homes presently heated with a hydronic or hot water system, electricity offers an extra special enticement to convert. The flameless electric boiler that replaces an old-fashioned cumbersome, flame-type unit can free as much as a whole extra room of space with its compact "suitcase" size. These compact units are especially attractive to new home owners too, because they hang on a wall without taking up costly floor space and deliver the clean, reliable heat electricity is famous for.

Another favorite for both old and new homes is the flameless electric furnace. Using the ducted circulating warm air principle, an electric furnace is compact enough to fit in a closet and carries the added advantage of being easily adaptable to electric central air conditioning for the joy of year-round total electric comfort conditioning.

As continuing evidence of electric heat's versatility, consider electric wall heaters. They're just right for putting extra warmth in hard-to-heat areas like hallways, bathrooms and playrooms.

And when you're speaking about modern electric heat, it's important to remember the heat pump—the most unique heating method of all. Its reverse cycle operation pulls heat into your house in the winter and out in the summer; it's a complete year 'round comfort conditioning system in one package. Using a ducted air distribution system, the heat pump can reverse itself automatically so all you have to do is choose the temperature you want, and an electric heat pump will maintain it for you even though the temperature outside may rise and fall sharply.

With all of these remarkable heating units available, each ready to give you heat that's clean as a light bulb, it's hard to imagine why anyone would choose anything for his home but modern flameless electric heat.

Late Summer Look At The Garden

By late summer many gardens have that down-at-the heels look about them. And, it would be a surprise if they didn't—for the combination of excessive heat and vacation neglect is enough to discourage the stoutest of plants.

When a late summer look at your garden shows this need of repair, minor surgery will soon make the patient well. Later, food and weeding plus a few flats full of quick-blooming annuals will really do wonders.

Tidying-up is the first order of business for post-vacationers. Cut the lawn and trim it. An application of a well-balanced fertilizer and thorough soaking will make any tired lawn take on a new appearance.

Annuals that have either stopped blooming or very nearly so, should be uprooted to eliminate another ragged edge of the garden — and to make way for new bedding plants. Members of the California Association of Nurserymen have a large selection of bedding plants that will provide immediate color

Celebrate '200th' With Garden Color

At least 347 organizations in California are involved in a program that calls for planting living color to enhance the 200th birthday celebration of California's first settlement. "Celebrate With Color" is the name of the program, and it is to culminate in 1969 — the Golden State's Bi-Centennial year.

Certainly there are other Bi-Centennial activities geared to the 1969-71 celebration. None compare with "Celebrate With Color" when it comes to planning and implementation. Some 347 Community Beautiful organizations in the state are, and have been since 1964, involved in civic beautification projects. Los Angeles Beautiful has been a moving force behind the program, which has the endorsement of nurserymen, landscape architects, and contractors.

As an example of what can be accomplished through such beautification programs as "Celebrate With Color," the Southern California community of Camarillo's volunteer organization (Camarillo Beautiful) is outstanding.

Besides anti-litter campaigns, weed-pulling projects, and a continuing youth program, hundreds of Bougainvilleas and Geraniums have been planted along fences and dividers. On March 7, Arbor Day, schools participate in planting projects which, to date, have accounted for scores of Bottle Brush and Oleanders being planted along city streets. Planting programs are continuing. Awards are made by Camarillo Beautiful to individuals and businesses for upgrading and enhancing the community environment.

Camarillo Beautiful's beautification plan won for that group Los Angeles Beautiful's grand award in the 1968 judging of Community Beautiful efforts. Though the "Celebrate With Color" program may conclude in 1969, today's planting of living color will bloom forth year-after year in the future.

Here is a storage unit designed to hold all the gardening tools children's play items and items of outdoor equipment that somehow find their way to the center of the garage floor. It is a simple sturdy plan that should offer no problems to the weekend carpenter who needs practical outdoor storage space.

Outdoor Storage Unit Ends Garage Clutter

Garages are for cars — at least that's what the architects design them for. Mostly, though, they house a jumbled collection of bicycles, garden tools, patio furniture, old paint cans and trash containers.

There's no need for this condition when you can easily build this modern outdoor storage unit developed by the American Plywood Association to give the garage back to the car and at the same time provide organized storage for the many items ordinarily misplaced in that abused structure.

Something like an outdoor basement in that there is plenty of room to store those things that ordinarily encroach on living space, the 8 x 12-foot buildings has five separate storage areas, each for a specific group of items.

Two large areas with sturdy plywood shelves at their sides are intended for outdoor living equipment such as barbecues and patio furniture, and sports equipment such as bicycles and croquet sets. The adjustable shelves are ideal for storage of paint and similar material.

These two areas and a third intended for garden tools and supplies are fitted with large plywood doors that can be locked to protect the contents.

The two remaining storage areas are left open. They are intended for wood and refuse storage.

Do-it-yourself plans make it easy for the amateur handyman to build this free-standing unit in a minimum of time with exterior-type plywood. The plans for the outdoor storage unit may be obtained for 10 cents from the American Plywood Association, 1119 A St., Tacoma, Wash. 98401.

Electric Water Heaters Long On Small Pleasures

Sometimes the small pleasures in life can take on enormous proportions when they're missing.

A hot shower. A nice, long, relaxing, steamy-hot shower; for instance.

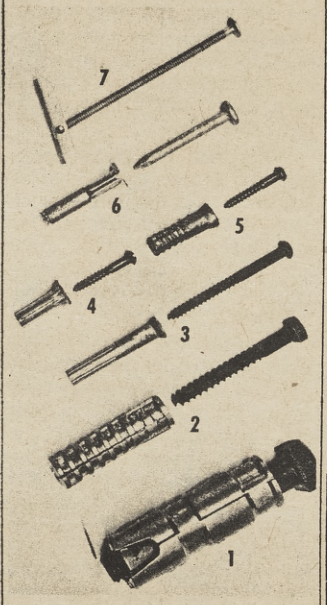
It's a small thing but a part of life that many people just couldn't do without in today's jet-propelled world. Now, thanks to the quick-recovery electric water heater, you can be sure there's plenty of hot-shower-power at any time of the day or night. No matter if Junior has the same idea downstairs, or Mother makes your shower time her wash time.

Today's quick-recovery flameless electric water heaters can make those hot again, cold again showers a misery of the past with their 100% efficient, 2 heating element design. Two heating elements means that water in the bottom of your tank is heated independently of the water ready to be drawn off at the top. And you know there's always hot water there ready for you to use because that upper heating unit is ever on the alert making sure the water ready to be drawn off is at the right temperature.

Attach Shelves Or Cabinets To Masonry

Many a homeowner desperately needing additional storage space has overlooked the possibilities offered by interior or exterior masonry walls.

To attach cabinets and shelves to walls of this type, all that is necessary is a drill hard enough to penetrate the brick or concrete blocks, and special patented anchoring devices to hold the fastening screws or nails.



Types of masonry and plaster fasteners. (1) lead shield for machine bolt; (2), (3), (4), and (5) show various kinds of expansion shield, screws; (6) drive-in anchor to be used with nail; (7) toggle bolt

Always drill the holes into the stone, brick, or concrete and not into the mortar joints. This can best be accomplished by using an electric drill with a carbide tip. If you don't have an electric drill, you can obtain one quite reasonably from your tool and equipment rental store. A "star" drill will also accomplish the job satisfactorily, but it takes time and considerable labor, and possibly some skinned knuckles.

Once the holes have been drilled, insert any one of several low-cost anchoring devices. These all work on the same principle of expansion against the sides of the hole in the masonry as the nails or screws are driven in.

These fastening devices for use in masonry may be obtained at any hardware store or lumber yard — along with some good advice about the best methods and materials to accomplish the desired result.

More Space to Work and Store With Easy to Make Potting Bench

Besides good weather, the thing that home gardners want most is a compact storage space for all their tools, pots, sacks and boxes.

A plywood garden potting bench answers that need, and it's not too difficult for the average gardener to build on a rainy weekend. Exterior type plywood with its 100 percent waterproof is used for construction of the potting bench. Plywood comes in large, strong panels and requires a minimum of cutting and nailing so that even the part-time do-it-yourselfer can construct the bench in a short time.

Place For Everything

The unit features ample storage space for all kinds of equipment from grass seed to water sprinklers. Large bins on casters keep peat moss and fertilizer handy.

Use Plants To Top A Retaining Wall

A satisfying gardening experience is to top a retaining wall with the right plant. Without the proper planting, the wall is just a harsh obstruction in the natural contour.

Also satisfying and attractive is using a living screen in conjunction with the wall to hide the unsightly from view — or where the area beyond the wall is too much trouble to garden. In effect, the height of the wall is heightened by the plants, emphasizing the break in the contour, but in such a way that it becomes a beatuiful end to itself, rather than an out-of-place and questionable focal point.

of splines, raised panels or recessed panel systems are also available.

For "inside" corners the most common procedure is to use a simple butt joint, covering with a cove or quarter round molding. For "outside" corners, that is, a wall which forms a right angle into the room, panels should be cut to fit flush to edge of furring strip or wall studding. This will permit installation of a quarter round of the same thickness as the panels to hide joint and provide a smooth rounded edge. An alternate method is to use a mitered joint, but extreme care should be taken to insure perfect fit.

Special moldings for base, cap or crown are available in most every wood species. Slight variations in color tone are to be expected but this variation actually enhances overall appearance.

Set all nails but don't fill nail holes until after first coat of sealer or shellac. After installation, panel areas edges and moldings should be lightly sanded and then wiped free of dust and grit before applying finish.

Step 4—Finishing

Clear Natural Finish — to utilize the full natural beauty and individuality of hardwood plywood, any of several finish systems may be used. The following suggestions have been found practical but alternate methods are being developed continually by paint manufacturers:

1. Apply prime coat of clear sealer or thin coat of white shellac mixed with equal portion of denatured alcohol. When dry, fill nail holes with plastic wood dough or putty tinted the color of the wood. Generally two shades of filler are needed, one for light and one for dark areas When dry, rub with No. 1 steel wool or No. 00. sandpaper. (This prime coat may be tinted, if desired.)

2. Apply a second coat of clear sealer or varnish. (An alternate method to obtain a lighter appearance, resembling raw wood, is as follows: After Step 1 above, apply coat of white pigmented sealer with a brush or cloth. Cover an area of not more than 30 sq. feet, allow to set two or three minutes and wipe off to desired tone. In spots where wood is darker, allow more pigmented sealer to remain. Thus, general color tone is held uniform. After allowing second coat to dry 24 hours, rub with steel wood or fine sandpaper and fill nail holes with plastic wood dough or putty tinted to proper shade.)

3. Apply third coat of dull varnish which may be buffed to a velvety sheen when dry. If minimum job is required, a third coat of self-polishing wax may now be used. However, to obtain a longer wearing surface, either a varnish or a third coat of lacquer is recommended.

When oak mahogany, walnut or other open grained woods are used, the procedure is the same, except that a white or natural filler should be used as second coat to fill pores and provide a smooth surface.

Lacquer Finish — Apply coat of lacquer sealer, sand lightly. Apply two or three coats clear lacquer as desired. Buff and wax.

Wax Finish — Several firms have introduced wax finishing systems which are adequate for hardwood plywood. It must be considered when selecting these systems that a subsequent paint surface or varnish surface cannot be applied, because wax becomes imbedded in the wood fibers and will soften varnish or lacquer.

Staining — Staining can either deepen or lighten the natural color of the wood to desired shade, while preserving natural grain and figure. There are three recommended methods:

1. Apply first coat of ½ white shellac and ½ denatured alcohol or thin coat of clear resin sealer; apply second coat of the desired stain; apply third coat of white shellac. When dry, sand lightly with fine sandpaper. Add fourth coat of either flat or gloss varnish.

2. Apply first coat of clear lacquer sealer; apply second coat of the desired stain; apply third coat of lacquer sealer. Add fourth coat of clear lacquer, sanding lightly between applications.

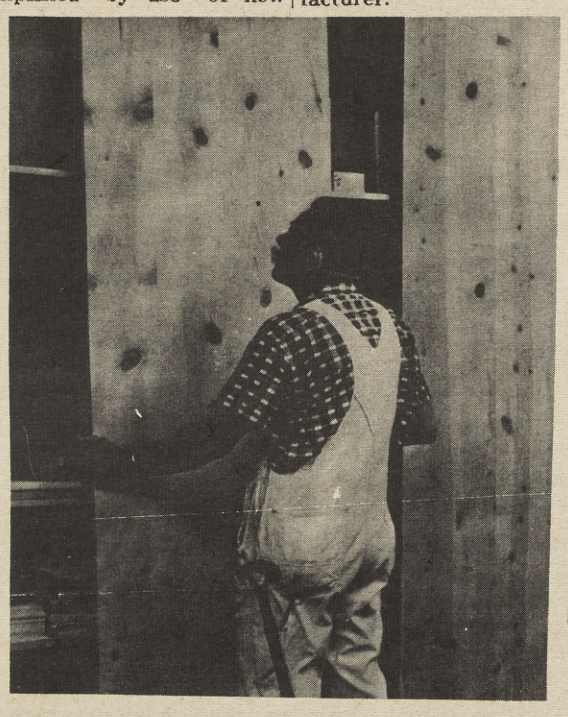
3. Apply one coat of combination stain and wax. Allow a few minutes for stain to penetrate then wipe with rag to desired shade. Apply second coat of self-polishing wax and buff to desired sheen.

Bleaching — Unusual and distinctive effects are possible through bleaching. Ask your building materials dealer or paint store for the best procedure for your job.

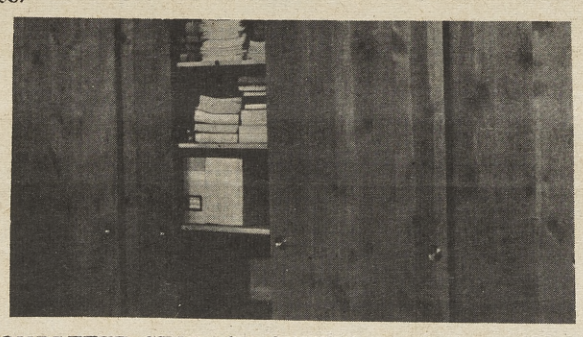
NOTE: Whatever finishing system you use always pretest it by completely finishing a small scrap of plywood to see the exact effect you will get. It is often difficult to visualize final appearances from first coat.

Oversized Pine Boards For Storage Construction

Built-in and related storage construction has been simplified by use of new edge-glued pine panels up to 30 inches in width, reports Georgia-Pacific, the manufacturer.



DURING CONSTRUCTION — Sliding door made of new extra-wide, edge-glued pine lumber is installed in area office.



COMPLETED STORAGE CENTER — Shellac or varnish adds to depth of grain following quick, inexpensive installation.

Sliding doors of solid 2½ x 9-foot pine lumber panels were specified, plus shelving in various sizes using the same material.

Cabinet doors for this installation were color-stained light aqua to match the room's decor. Other uses of the over-sized panels include residential and industrial cabinetwork and case goods.

The panels result from improved high-frequency electronic bonding.

The Ponderosa pine industry's latest product is edge-glued from panel-grade common boards in standard widths from 14 to 30 inches and lengths up to 16 feet. Panels are smooth sanded on both sides to 3/4-inch to eliminate on-the-job filling and sanding.

Components are selected S4S 1x6, 1x8 and 1x10 kiln dried knotty pine.

Plywood 'Highway' Shakes Manufacturer

Mr. and Mrs. Donald P. Moran of St. Louis, Mo., bought a new type of vinyl surface plywood for their den walls "because the national manufacturer claimed it was almost punishment proof."

Now Mrs. Moran has written Georgia-Pacific Corp. to report on the company's high-sounding advertising claims.

"One piece blew off the car enroute home. It was run over by several highway trucks, a bus, and at least 100 cars."

Then, G-P's astounded St. Louis manager F. T. Burke confirms, she added that "we finally retrieved our panel and now it is part of our new walnut woodgrained wall."

Total damage?

"Not a scratch," Mrs. Moran added.

Burke would say only that "our sales approach for Vinyl Shield will now be more emphatic."
